A Few Words for Parents...

Seek out people who will love your child for his or her abilities and self, and latch on to those people. Those are the ones who You can count on when times get rough.

Find a place where your child is accepted and can just be “one of the kids” and not a “special needs child”. For example, your church or place of worship maybe a place to find those kind hearts. Allow them to share their love with you and your child.

MUSIC – Deaf or hearing impaired children love music. They can feel the vibrations!
