

MIEHR CEDC CAB MEMBER BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION

Rev. James Caldwell

Reverend James Caldwell is a native of Houston, Texas. He is a graduate of Phyllis Wheatley High School and Texas Southern University's School of Public Affairs. He also attended Dallas Theological Seminary and has been an ordained minister for over 28 years. Reverend Caldwell has been a community advocate and his advocacy and activism span 20 years. He is the founder and director of the Coalition of Community Organizations, which connects communities to the invaluable resources they need and connects organizations with one another. He also serves as the Interim President of the NorthEast Concerned Civic Citizens League (NECCCL). He is currently a member of the CEER, Coalition of Environment, Equity, & Resilience (CEER), WeACT, Port of Houston Authority Chairman's Community Advisory Committee, Healthy Port Community Coalition, Clean Gulf Commerce Coalition, PCORI Baylor College of Medicine's Asthma Study Advisory Committee, Texas Organizing Project (TOP) and People Before Profits.